DETAILED ACTION

Specification

The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities:

- On page 8, line 1, delete "2" and replace with --1--.

Appropriate correction is requested.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claims 1-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Regarding claim 1, the phrase "constant-rate supply type" (emphasis added) renders the claims indefinite because the claims include an element not actually disclosed (those encompassed by "type"), thereby rendering the scope of the claims unascertainable. See MPEP § 2173.05(d).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 1-2 and 4-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Okumoto (US. Pat. No. 4,635,648).

Okumoto discloses a shredded tobacco supply apparatus of a cigarette manufacturing machine comprising a shredded tobacco feeding apparatus (corresponding to the claimed "tobacco feeder"), said tobacco feeding apparatus including a storage reservoir 14 (corresponding to the claimed "reservoir stored with shredded tobacco"), an endless pin belt 17 or 24 (corresponding to the claimed "ascending conveyor capable of receiving the shredded tobacco from said reservoir and transferring the shredded tobacco upward"), an area where tobacco shreds 25 drift (corresponds to the claimed "deposition chute capable of receiving the shredded tobacco from said ascending conveyor and depositing the received shredded tobacco"), pin drum 27 (corresponding to the claimed "feed roller unit....for delivering the shredded tobacco from said deposition chute"), winnower 29 (corresponding to the claimed "acceleration means for accelerating the shredded tobacco delivered from said feed roller unit"), and duct 30 (corresponding to the claimed "pneumatic transportation means") which includes a chimney 2 for guiding the shredded tobacco and the air current toward a porous band (corresponding to the claimed "tobacco band") (col. 3, line 8 – col. 4, line 62). As apparent from figure 1, the chimney 2 inclines at an angle to the traveling direction of the porous conveyor/suction chamber 3.

Regarding claim 2, Okumoto discloses horizontal conveyor 16 disposed in such a manner as to constitute a bottom of the storage reservoir 14 (corresponding to the claimed "bottom conveyor forming a bottom wall of said reservoir").

Regarding claim 4, Okumoto discloses an air stream which is sent in under pressure through duct 30 and is changed into a uniform air stream by current plate 31 and jetted out of a hole 32 to ascend through a chimney 2 (corresponding to the claimed "jet diffuser for jetting out an air current toward the chimney"). While Okumoto may not explicitly state that the jet diffuser is capable of jetting out the air current at an angle of inclination equal to the angle of inclination of the chimney, where the claimed and prior art apparatus is identical or substantially identical in structure or composition, a prima facie case of either anticipation or obviousness has been established. In re Best, 562 F.2d 1252, 1255, 195 USPQ 430,433 (CCPA 1977). In other words, when the structure recited in the reference is substantially identical to that of the claims, the claimed functions (i.e. capabilities) are presumed to be inherent. MPEP 2112.

Regarding claim 5, as depicted in fig.1 the winnower 29 (corresponding to the claimed "acceleration means"), is a roller which is located between the pin drum 27 (corresponding to the claimed "feed roller unit") and the current plate 30/hole 32 (corresponding to the claimed "jet diffuser").

Regarding claim 6, Okumoto discloses a duct 30 (corresponding to the claimed "pneumatic transportation") which circulates the air stream (corresponding to the claimed "air current").

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claim 3 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Okumoto (US. Pat. No. 4,635,648) in view of JP 61-224977.

This claim differs from the Okumoto reference because of language that recites the apparatus comprises a plurality of tobacco feeders, the respective chimneys being arranged adjacent to one another in the traveling direction of the tobacco band.

However, JP 61-224977 discloses a shredded tobacco supply apparatus having such arrangement (see figs. 2,3). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to arrange several feeders adjacent one another, as depicted in JP 61-224977, in order to provide for more than one type of tobacco filler material for the finished tobacco product.
